

Castillos

Who can build the most worthy Castillos?

The two players play with 36 castle-stones that are laid out to a 6x6 playing field.

A stone may only be taken if it has at least two free sides. If the stone taken is connected to other stones of the same color all the stones of that color may be taken.

Each player builds the stones in front of him to Castillos. That means that the same color stones must always be stacked on top of each other.

Attention: Some stones double the stone value, others are more valuable and the cannon destroys foreign Castillos, so that they become worthless. You shall consider well, which stones you grab.

This gives Castillos an amazing depth. Tactics get their money's worth here. A quick game for in between. Caution: Addictive!
